THE FULLERTON HOTEL LAUNCHES WEEKLY TUESDAY SWING NIGHTS WITH INFECTIOUS OLD HOLLYWOOD VIBES

SINGAPORE, 13 March 2017 – Thanks to the recent runaway success of La La Land, vintage fashion and handsome brogues are in vogue again, and there’s no better place to don them than at Post Bar’s newly launched Swing Nights. Recently kicked off in March, the fun-filled evenings are a great way for corporate and leisure crowds to unwind over big band jazz and the hotel bar’s new range of craft cocktails every Tuesday evening from 8 p.m. onwards.

Swing is an overarching dance style that dates back to the era of the 1920s-1940s, with the Lindy Hop – characterised by bouncy, upbeat movements – proving most popular. Channel Emma Stone, let your hair down and clock in some fitness all at the same time. In keeping with the old school retro vibe, diner snacks such as Spicy Mac & Cheese, Chicken Poppers, Lobster Mayo on Brioche and Cheesy Sloppy Joe Sliders will be available throughout the night for just S$18 nett. Work up an appetite you will, as experienced dancers take to the floor to teach novices basic steps so they can continue to twirl the night away.

There’s more than just convivial dance routines to look forward to. Towards the end of the evening, lucky draws will be conducted with giveaways of rosé champagne bottles.

Admission is free for all. All ladies will also receive a complimentary Fullerton Swing cocktail, crafted with cherry liqueur, house-made raspberry grenadine and thyme-infused gin.

ABOUT POST BAR

A trendy bar frequented by fast-movers and deal-makers, Post Bar has a style which is distinctively its own. Guests can enjoy signature postal-themed craft cocktails inspired by their provenance. Since its launch, this contemporary bar has remained as the place to see and be seen in. While Post Bar's interior is sleek and trendy, with underlit honey onyx bar tables and standing artichoke cardboard lamps, classic design elements like the original wall motifs and lofty coffered ceiling from when it used to be the General Post Office's transaction hall makes the décor heritage chic and truly unique. The private Music Room and lush outdoor area with modern furnishings is the perfect setting to unwind at. A menu of creative canapés is also available for savoury bites to accompany your drink.
