

THE COURTYARD

Built in 1928, The Fullerton Building began a new chapter in its illustrious history with the transformation into The Fullerton Hotel Singapore in 2001. With a distinguished façade, its architectural grandeur is matched by only two other buildings in the city - the old City Hall and Supreme Court. The hotel's prime location in the heart of the Civic District is in tandem with its rich history. Lying at the forefront of Raffles Place, Singapore's financial and business district, it enjoys close proximity to some of the city's finest arts & cultural venues.

Over the years, the building has housed many occupants including the General Post Office, The Exchange, the Chamber of Commerce and the Inland Revenue Authority of Singapore.

In the past, the hotel's main entrance served as the entrance to the highly exclusive Singapore Club. On the ground level surrounding the open-air courtyard were the General Post Office's main hall, public counters, sorting room for letters and telegraph room. Entry to the General Post Office was via the building's South entrance, which is today at the far end of The Courtyard closest to Post Bar.

As the sunlit atrium lobby lounge of The Fullerton Hotel Singapore, The Courtyard lends itself to all occasions. Be it a tête-à-tête over Afternoon Tea, an informal business lunch discussion or cocktails in the evening, The Courtyard provides a welcome respite amidst the bustle of the city.
